This Level 2, four-day course on Dyadic Developmental Practice, Psychotherapy and Parenting (DDP), builds on the ideas and skills introduced in Level 1. It focuses on gaining a deeper understanding of the theory, successes and barriers experienced by participants in applying the model in practice, more videos and discussion of DDP and the impact of participant's own attachment experiences.

This training is open to clinical psychologists, social workers, psychotherapists and other practitioners who have completed the four-day Level 1 training and are beginning to use the principles and interventions in their day-to-day clinical work. It is helpful if participants have examples of their own DDP practice, such as case studies and/or recordings, to share with the group.

Participants are referred to the Attachment-Focused Family Therapy Workbook by Daniel A. Hughes, 2011, and Healing Relational Trauma with Attachment-Focused Interventions: DDP with Children and Families by Kim S. Golding, Julie Hudson, Daniel Hughes, 2019, which underpins this training.

This is phase two of becoming certified as a DDP practitioner. After completing Level 2 you can apply to become certified as a practitioner in DDP. For detailed information go to ddpnetwork.org Participants do not have to be planning to certify in the model to take Level 2.

Betty J.B. Brouwer has more than 25 years of clinical experience working with children, adolescents and their families who have experienced trauma and loss in their lives. Betty works for the Shalem Mental Health Network, based in Hamilton, Ontario, where she serves as the Attachment Director. Betty is a certified DDP practitioner, consultant and trainer. Betty is currently chair of the DDPI board. Betty is a registered psychotherapist and she is also a registered art therapist and play therapist.
